Privacy Statement

In order to respect and protect your privacy rights when you use the services and information provided on NSYSU Library website, please read carefully the following information:

1. Your personal information identification will not be gathered by our system when you are browsing website and downloading file from NSYSU Library website.
2. When you participate in online services, personal information you provide, we will be obligated the "Personal Data Protection Law of the Republic of China" and relevant norms of laws. Your personal information cannot be used for other issues other than to collect a particular purpose.
3. Due to legal requirements or comply with applicable laws and norms (e.g., Norms for the use of NSYSU campus networks), we must provide relevant information to the competent authority.
4. We have the right to modify this statement and update on NSYSU Library website.

Security Policy

Any unauthorized and behavior of attempting to tamper with the service within NSYSU Library website are strictly prohibited and may violate the law. For the purpose of website's security and to maintain the services of website to operate normally, we provide the following security measures:

1. Installing firewall and IDP (Intrusion Detection Prevention) systems to prevent illegal invasion and to avoid the relevant information has been unauthorized retrieved for ensuring the safety of the website.
2. To establish network traffic management system to efficiently control abnormal network traffic in order to maintain the network operating normally.
3. To establish the mechanism of information security event monitoring to prevent the incident, shorten normal operation recovery time and reduce the damage.
4. Website data is well protected and backed up by CDP(Continuous Data Protector). It also has instant backup support and continuous online services.

Copyright

All content within the National sun Yat-Sen University office of library and information services World Wide Web site, including the text, audio, video, images, and the layout, are properties of National sun Yat-Sen University office of library and information services. Please contact us first for reprints of any kind.
email: jr_flying@mail.nsysu.edu.tw